Dear Hiring Team,

I am applying for frontend roles that need someone who ships production UI: Figma-to-code, responsive delivery, and clean releases, not just prototypes.

At OSBR I deliver client sites on Nuxt, Vue, and Astro with microCMS, including healthcare-recruitment pages and a Nuxt 4 migration across related properties. I also recovered a production Vercel outage and added Workers plus GitHub Actions scaffolding to our team CLI. Independently I am shipping Kaeru, a desktop product shell with bilingual EN/JA UI and accessibility polish, and log.exe, a Next.js product UI on Cloudflare.

I care about frontend ownership that holds up in production: consistency across repos, CMS-backed content, and UI quality users can feel. I would welcome a conversation about how I can help ship your next product surface.

Sincerely,
Amirah Nasihah
